About Us

CIAC's History

With the proliferation of the Internet to the mass people through devices such as smartphones and personal computers, the world becomes a global village with its truest potentials and possibilities. The democratization of education is happening at an overwhelming rate. Anyone can learn things at any time from anywhere. Thus, a student needs to perform as a global citizen in this global village. A separate entity like the Center for International Affairs and Cooperation (CIAC) has been established at UIU in June 2019 to address the need of internationalization that should happen and be experienced at UIU. CIAC's aim is to provide the students, faculty members and staff the international exposures where cross-cultural diversities and practices are nurtured, and learning happens in the global scale.
